MARGARET RIVER FRANCES ANDRIJICH

... natural beauty is marvellously brought to life through the lens of photographer Frances Andrijich.

The West Australian

ABOUT THE BOOK

The unique region of Margaret River in Australia's south-west is captured with charm and intimacy through the lens of Frances Andrijich.

Frances is one of Australia's finest photographers whose work features in national and international magazines such as Time Magazine, Harper's Bazaar, Gourmet Traveller, Australian Geographic, Vogue and the Weekend Australian Magazine.

Her latest book explores the natural beauty and daily life of the place that has become her second home.

ABOUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER

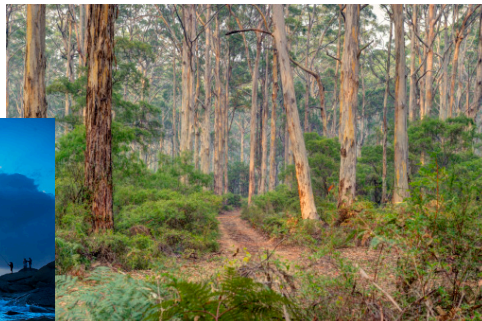

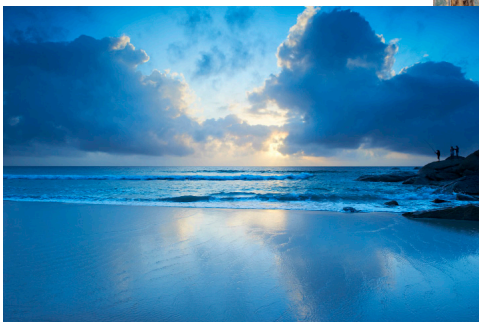

Frances Andrijich's extraordinary images – whether captured in the townships of South Africa, the Croatian countryside, or Indonesian slums – have earned her a growing international reputation. But at heart Frances is a Western Australian, and arguably her most captivating work are studies of the personalities and places closest to home. An active member of ACMP, Frances is a contributor to Getty Images, and the recipient of numerous awards. She exhibits regularly, most recently in the group show 'Beyond Likeness: Contemporary Portraits, 2012'.

KEY POINTS

- Frances Andrijich is a prolific and well-known photographer with strong media connections nationally and internationally. She regularly contributes to more than 20 magazines.
- Margaret River is an iconic destination for both Australian and international travellers. This book is the benchmark publication on the region and should be in the Australia or travel sections of all good bookshops around the country.
