

DUST

by DANIEL CRAIG

ABOUT THE BOOK

Photographer Daniel Craig captures the personalities of Western Australia's north – the hardworking men and women of the outback – and the excitement of the muster. This snapshot of life on a cattle station depicts the harsh beauty of the Pilbara in images of dusty light, denim, leather and grit.

ABOUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER

Daniel Craig (Matsu) was born and raised in Fremantle, Western Australia. He taught himself photography through immersion in Perth's local music scene, capturing the raw energy of performing artists onstage, backstage and on the road. With a passion for light, shadow and story, Daniel continues to challenge and refine his ideas on photography, letting his heart and photographer's instincts guide him. His work is influenced by a background in music, martial arts and the spiritual practice of Falun Gong.

NOTES

- The photographs were taken at De Grey Station, a station sitting at the mouth of the De Grey River in the Pilbara, around eighty kilometres east of Port Hedland in Australia's North-West.
- Accompanied by written observations from the photographer, the reader receives insight into what happens on the other side of the lens – a rare perspective from behind the camera.
