

One day, Charlie found a hole.

He couldn't believe his eyes.

A hole of his very own!

Charlie bent down, picked up the hole and popped it in his pocket.

But it didn't take Charlie long to realise that a hole in your pocket was not a good thing to have ...

So he put the hole in his backpack.

Which turned out to be an even WORSE place to have a hole.

'This hole is no good at all,' said Charlie.
And he set off to find the hole a new owner.

